About June

A fourth generation Manchester native, June Trisciani was raised by the Queen City and has spent her life fighting for families like her own - first as an educator, a tech executive, a small business owner, and now as Alderman At-Large. June knows what it's like when Manchester is thriving: she grew up in a hardworking blue-collar family. Her grandparents and parents worked in the mills, June and her three siblings benefitted from Manchester's public education, and most importantly, June knew that her community supported her. June was born and raised on the East Side, where her family still lives today. She and her husband, Jeffrey Rogers, live in Ward 1.
